Dear Fred and Family.

8 March 60

Greetings from where the sun is said to spend the winter, but hasn't this year - San Antonio.

Surprised to hear Jim back in the States? Well circumstances made it a necessity. Last September we had a letter from the couple that lives next door to us here saying that the people who were renting our house were doing extensive damage, not only to the house but to the yard. So with much discussion by the pros and cons we decided, since I couldn't find a job that the only thing to be done was for me to return to Texas, fix our house and return to work. So after wading through the usual red tape I boarded the USN General Buckner transport at Bremerhaven on 6 Dec. I returned on a space available basis. I arrived at New York on the 15th of Dec and after a 10-day stay with my family in Michigan I headed for Texas. I have our home back in shape and expect to go to work next week at Fort Sam Houston.

My one regret was that there was no way Homer could come back too. He is still with the 2d Field Hospital at Munich. If you get over that way again call him up or better yet stop by to see him. He works in the Physiotherapy clinic. He would be glad to see you. With my early return I don't know how his tour of duty will be affected. I am hoping they will cut it to 2-years.

How are you and your family making out? I am indeed sorry that my early return to the States made it impossible for me to meet your family but when you return to the States, if we aren't at opposite ends of the country, which must be remedied.

Texas, at least here, has been very cold and damp the past 6 or 8 weeks. It was warm and pleasant when I arrived but it didn't last long. Today is the first fairly decent day we have had for over a week and even this morning it was very foggy and misty.

I have to write to the WAVES and the rest of the Navy in Norway to see how they are making out. It is such a pleasure to make friends with the very nice people I met on the trip over.

Give my best to your family. Fred and I drop a line when we have time. Homer and I both are looking forward to seeing you and your family whether now or at a later date.

As ever,

Doris Bell
